

EXPECT STRIKERS TO REJECT PROPOSAL

Senator Lenroot Will Take Up Question Of Northwest Fuel Supply

UNIONISM IS CHIEF ISSUE IN WALK OUTS

Pennsylvania Road Is Said to Be Endeavoring to Down A. F. O. L. FORM COMPANY UNIONS
Railroad Executives Are Not Agreeing Among Themselves on Question

By David Lawrence.
Copyright 1922, by Post Publishing Co.
Washington — Unionism — shall it survive or perish — this is the issue which dwells all others in the present industrial crisis. Railroad executives admit that the seniority question is but a phase of the broad problem of unionism while strikers frankly contend that they are fighting to preserve a right of organization which has saved them from arbitrary acts and abuses by unfair employers in the past.

President Harding, if he were to speak his mind, would probably reveal that as he turns from side to side in an effort to bring a compromise on concrete questions like seniority and labor board rulings finds always something bigger and more controlling, namely the issue of unionism.

But will the unions be crushed? That's just the question which the more friendly of the executives are putting to their colleagues. So long as working conditions are satisfactory the strength of unions may diminish but once an abuse is perpetrated or wages are reduced below a living scale the workmen flock to the union leaders to protect them.

COMPANY UNIONS FORMED
The outstanding feature of course of the fight to crush unionism is the attitude of the Pennsylvania railroad which by reason of its size and the great number of men employed is commanding the attention of railroad executives and union leaders throughout the country. The backbone of the executives' organization which rejected the seniority proposal made by President Harding is after all the Pennsylvania railroad. Similarly the experiment being conducted by the Pennsylvania to break down the American Federation of Labor is watched on every side and in many quarters is regarded as the true cause of the present strike.

LABOR WILL LOSE
When the strike is settled and both sides take count of the casualties it will be found that labor gained less through the strike than it could have obtained through the orderly processes of the railroad labor board and that in the end viewpoint of the circuit court of appeals of the northern district of Illinois will prevail, namely that the labor board must have the right under the transportation act to determine who truly represents the parties in dispute and that the Pennsylvania by making an agreement with one group of employees can not deprive the other group of the right to negotiate an agreement on wages and working conditions.

If the Pennsylvania were to establish successfully its "company union" other roads would follow suit. The disagreement among the rail executives arises from the fact that some of them are of the opinion that tactics like those being pursued by the Pennsylvania are futile and are only bound to aggravate labor and cause discontent throughout the railroad systems of the country. Although, for instance, the four brotherhoods are organized in their own way and the roads point to that as the answer to the cry that they do not deal with unions the truth is the brotherhoods are much too strong for the roads at present.

COAL SITUATION

Operator-miners' conference at Cleveland marked time waiting action of absent operators on invitation to join meeting.
Indiana operators met at Terre Haute to consider strike settlement plan.
Output of West Virginia non-union mines showed increase last week.
Federal investigators to fix fair price in west Kentucky non-union field, Secretary Hoover announced.
Shipments from Indiana mines operated under troop protection delayed by unsafe railroad tracks.

NO DANGER OF QUICK CLOSING OF PAPER MILLS

Manufacturers Say They Have Enough Coal to Keep Operating Two to Four Weeks

There is no immediate danger of paper mills in Appleton. Combined Locks and Neenah closing because of a shortage of coal, a survey Tuesday morning indicated. Most of the mills in these three cities have a sufficient supply to operate for two or three weeks and some of them are getting small quantities of coal almost every day. One of the companies reports that one of its mills has a sufficient supply for 50 days while most of the firms say they can operate from 15 to 30 days.

One of the mills at Neenah reported that it is operating on a "hand to mouth" system but is receiving enough coal to keep operating. There seems to be little worry over the outcome.

It is reported the mill at Kimberly has sufficient coal to operate from 12 to 20 days but it was difficult to obtain verification.
Most of the millowners are taking an optimistic view of the situation. They seem to feel that if they are unable to obtain coal by the time their present supplies are exhausted the railroad also will be without fuel by that time and consequently there will be paralysis of transportation and it will be impossible to ship finished product or raw materials even if the mills could continue operating.

SHORTAGE IN GREEN BAY

Green Bay—Two of the principal paper mills in this district face a shutdown inside of two weeks unless they are immediately allowed coal at the Northern Paper mills one of the largest in the country, and at the Fort Howard paper mill, officials said that the supply will barely last the fortnight. It was desirable that there be a full attendance of members next Tuesday when the house reconvenes after a six weeks adjournment.
The president, it was learned from house leaders, was said to feel that the house should be prepared to enact such legislation as the industrial situation, particularly the rail strike might make necessary. None of the leaders, so far as it could be learned, had been informed as to whether the president has any specific legislation in mind and if he had what was its nature.

Mid-West States In Coal Meet

Governor Groesbeck of Michigan Will Also Attend Preus Conference
MICHIGAN TO GET FUEL
Many Industrial Concerns of Nation Are Suffering From Shortage

Washington—Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin Tuesday appeared at the coal committee meeting to take up the needs of the northern lake sections. He declared he was being bombarded with appeals from the northern lake region that fuel be supplied before winter.

Fuel problems of New England, the middle western states and various angles of the railroad situation as affecting coal distribution were up for solution before fuel distributor Spencer and the federal central committee. Railroad stocks of coal in the middle Atlantic states were reported to have sunk very low, these lines not being as well supplied with fuel as the southeastern roads, and means of replenishing stocks on the middle Atlantic line also were considered.

Many industrial concerns throughout the country it was said, are applying to the committee direct for fuel but these requests should have been sent in the first instance.

The meeting of Pennsylvania coal operators with Mr. Spencer and fuel administration officials will be held Wednesday instead of on Aug. 10 as erroneously announced Monday night.

GOVERNORS TO MEET

St. Paul, Minn.—Governor Alexander J. Groesbeck of Michigan, late Monday was invited by Governor Preus of Minnesota to attend the conference of governors on the coal situation, which the governor has called for Thursday. Invitations for the conference had already been issued to the governors of Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana and the first four named have accepted.

MICHIGAN TO GET COAL

Lansing, Mich.—With announcement Tuesday of appointment of sub coal administrators for 39 counties of the state by state administrator William W. Potter, Michigan's fuel distribution organization was ready to function.
State officials Tuesday were optimistic that the output of a coal mine in Kentucky reported to be 3,000 tons a day, can be obtained for this state. A representative of the company has offered the state fuel administration the output of the mine at the basic price of $350 a ton. Unless disaster comes from Washington or difficulties in transportation arise the coal probably will start moving into the state promptly, officials said.
For the present no priority will be given domestic users of coal it was announced the first supplies being made available for hospitals, state institutions and public utilities facing shut downs.

COAL ON PRIORITY ORDER IS GOING TO MILWAUKEE

Madison—All coal consigned to the Milwaukee Gas and Light company and the Wisconsin Great Lakes Coal and Dock company is moving to the lakes under the class two priority order, the railroad commission was advised in a telegram Tuesday by C. E. Tuttle, lake commissioner.
The priority requests for the shipment of this coal were issued last week by the railroad commission. Mr. Tuttle's telegram said that he expected the movement of coal to the lakes by rail to be greatly increased.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL PUTS IN ELECTRICAL COURSE

Oshkosh—The Vocational school here which opens in September will offer a new course, that of electrical work. A new electrical instructor has been hired and provisions have been made by the industrial board of education to equip the new department. A wireless station capable of long distance receiving will be installed.

Man Shoots His Wife To Save Her Soul

Salt Lake City—W. M. Jorganson, 40, is under arrest here charged with having shot and killed his wife, Elsie Jorganson, 30, in a hotel room at mid night Sunday night. The Jorgansons are former residents of Pocatello, Idaho.
"I murdered my wife to save her soul and I do not regret my deed," Jorganson is declared to have told the police. Officers said he told them the shooting took place as the clock struck twelve and that the affair was prearranged between them.
Police said they have learned that Mrs. Jorganson before her marriage was Elsie Rosenthal of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin.

RATIONING OF COAL WILL BE USED IN STATE

Reports Show That Wisconsin Uses 12,000,000 Tons of Coal Annually

Madison—Wisconsin cannot guarantee the payment of coal under the state constitution which prohibits the loaning of state credit for private enterprises said a statement issued by the Wisconsin Fuel Committee in summing up its work since organization. Should the federal fuel administrator insist upon centralizing of its agencies a programme for the distribution of coal will have to be worked out through other agencies.
Instructions and forms from the federal fuel administration were received by the committee and the committee now has been furnished the war emergency plan will again be brought to use, the statement said. This plan provides for all coal to be furnished to existing agencies for distribution as normal times instead of a centralized agency as the federal fuel administrator suggests.

Arrangements for the purchase and delivery of coal in Wisconsin so as not to entail any additional financial burden upon the coal consumers of the state was being made by the committee. Twelve million tons of coal are consumed in Wisconsin annually, the statement continued. Compilation of figures from questionnaires sent to all retail coal dealers, cheese factories, creameries, condenseries and the larger industries will be made the latter part of the week.

State institutions will be furnished with coal by J. D. Mack, state engineer, a member of the fuel committee who has just completed a survey. Public schools and municipal plants will be furnished coal under the class 3 priority order through the fuel committee.

Domestic consumer will continue to apply for their coal through their local dealers. All coal being mined, it was said, is being shipped for immediate consumption only, and no coal will be sold or transported for storage purposes at this time.
The weekly and monthly needs of the people will be taken care of by rationing process, the statement said.

WOMAN IS HELD FOR DIGGING UP BODY

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—Mrs. Ruth Knutson, of Boyd, Wis., and her 17 year old brother Clifford Harrison are held here on a charge of removing the body of a woman in 1918 from the Drummond Island cemetery, and state authorities declare their arrests are impending in the case.
Harrison and his sister are charged with removing the body of Mrs. Anna Fairchild, an aged woman, several days after the body had been interred. Mrs. Knutson, who married a Boyd farmer last fall after answering his advertisement for a housekeeper, has a month old baby.

Mrs. Knutson was arrested ten days ago, but the authorities at Eau Claire, Wis., where she was first taken, did not give out the information until Monday, when it was erroneously inferred that the arrest had just been made. The woman was brought here a week ago.

The authorities here refuse to discuss details of the case, though they say that information in their possession indicated there had been a plot to place the body of the woman in a house on St. Joe Island, on the Canadian side, burn the house and offer the woman's body as evidence of the death of another woman in an effort to collect insurance.

RAIL UNION HEADS WILL HOLD MEETING

Parley Is Called By W. S. Stone

Head of Telegraphers' Union Sends Wire to Other Brotherhoods

TRY TO AVERT CALAMITY

Executives Are Summoned to New York Conference By T. Dewitt Cuyler

By Associated Press
Cleveland—Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Tuesday morning telegraphed 15 chiefs of railroad brotherhoods asking them to attend a conference in Washington next Friday to consider the railroad situation throughout the country and "avert the impending calamity of a collapse in transportation."

President Stone's action was taken following receipt of a telegram from Bert M. Jewell, head of the shopcraft unions, William H. Johnson, president of the International Association of Machinists and J. F. Noonan, president of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, asking him to call such a meeting.
"I called the brotherhood chief together as requested," Mr. Stone said, "but I do not know just what action will be taken."

EXECUTIVES TO MEET
New York—Telegrams summoning the heads of 148 railroads to New York Friday to frame the reply of the Association of Railway Executives to President Harding's second plan for settlement of the shopcraft strike were dispatched Tuesday by Robert S. Binkerd, assistant to T. Dewitt Cuyler, president of the association.
Orders for the meeting were issued at Bar Harbor, Maine, by Mr. Cuyler who announced he would not return to New York until the day of the meeting.

A sharp division of opinion between eastern and western carrier chiefs toward the president's suggestion for putting the question of seniority for the strikers directly up to the railroad labor board, appeared in railroad circles Tuesday.

VOTERS' LEAGUE GUIDES PEOPLE

Milwaukee—A large percentage of Milwaukee's citizens who take advantage of their franchise at municipal elections are guided by the recommendations of an organization known as the Voters' league.

The Voters' league which is an independent, non-partisan organization has as its object the furnishing of information about candidates running for offices in the common council, board of supervisors, and the school board. The league is composed of disinterested citizens who have the welfare of the municipal government at heart. All reports and recommendations of the league are based upon the deliberate and unanimous judgement of the individuals composing its executive committee, consisting of nine members. Others who support the league either by financial contributions or by following its recommendations, have no voice in shaping the policy of the organization or formulating its report and recommendations. The organization is maintained by the private subscriptions of citizens who believe in its work and no subscriptions are accepted from officials or candidates for office.

PROMINENT MILWAUKEE WOMAN DIED MONDAY

Farmer Boy Saves Train From Wreck

By Associated Press
Fond du Lac—Only the quick wit and presence of mind of an unknown hero, a farmer boy, saved a speeding Chicago and Northwestern railroad passenger train, carrying many passengers to summer homes at Green Lake, from going into a deep creek early Tuesday, eleven miles west of here.
The heavy train was speeding westward when the boy, who had noted the washing away of a bridge on the right of way, flagged the train. He then started on his way, declaring that he "had a date with his girl and had to hurry." Before any one could secure his name, he had disappeared in the storm.

OHIO IS CENTER OF INTEREST IN PRIMARY RACES

Harding's State Will Vote on Indorsement of His Administration

By Associated Press
Chicago—With state wide primaries in Ohio, Arkansas, Alabama and a "Southern states" convention in Texas political perils Tuesday were trained especially on the Buckeye state, where Republican voters of President Harding's home commonwealth went to the polls to determine two well defined issues—modified prohibition and approval of the Harding administration.
The issues centered in the gubernatorial campaign in which it was up to the Ohio G. O. P. to decide whether the state would remain loyal to the old guard or follow Indiana, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Iowa and North Dakota, in the movement which upsets the old organizations in those states.

Carmi A. Thompson, of Cleveland was the standard bearer of both the Harding forces and advocates of strict enforcement of existing prohibition laws. Congressman C. L. Knight of Akron and Daniel Williams Jackson publisher, both head progressive elements of the party. Ballots cast for C. Homer Durand, Cochran atorney, were in repudiation of the Volstead act and endorsements of modification of the dry laws to permit the sale of light wines and beer. Harvey C. Smith, of Zanesville, was the gubernatorial candidate who led the anti-temperance forces and the anti-saloon league. Organized labor asserted itself in the campaigns for both Republican and Democratic nominations for United States senator backing former Congressman John J. Lentz of Columbus against Senator Atlee Pomerene in the Democratic race and Charles Dick of Akron, against Congressman S. D. Fess in the Republican senatorial campaign.

SECTION EMPLOYEES THREATEN STRIKE

Maintenance Men of St. Paul Road Are Protesting Road's Actions

By Associated Press
Madison—On the answer to a telegram sent to E. F. Grable, Grand President of the Maintenance of Way men, hangs the outcome of a conference here between J. H. Vanderhel, general chairman of the Maintenance of Waymen on the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad and the executive board of the St. Paul system who are meeting here in an effort to avert a strike of 9,000 Maintenance of Waymen on this system.
The telegram which was sent by J. H. Vanderhel was not made public. Maintenance of Waymen contemplated the strike as a result of the railroads asking them to perform the work of striking railroad workers. Complaints were being received by Mr. Vanderhel from all over the St. Paul system demanding a settlement with the roads.

RAIL SUMMARY

President Harding is reported to have notified representative Mondell a full attendance should be present when the house of representatives convenes Tuesday after six weeks vacation, because of the serious strike situation.
T. Dewitt Cuyler, president of the railroad executives, declined to comment on the president's latest peace plan until heads of 148 roads meet in New York Friday to consider it.
Chairman Hooper of the Railroad Labor Board, announced the president had apparently found "safe and sane" course and declared seniority question need not be a factor in settlement on most roads.
Big Four Telegraphers at Cincinnati considering strike vote.
Quiet restored at Joliet, Illinois and Albany, Alabama where troops were sent after rioting Tuesday.

500 SHOEMEN OF STATE HERE FOR CONCLAVE

Convention Formally Opened This Afternoon—Exhibit in Armory Is Feature

More than 500 shoe merchants and representatives of shoe manufacturers are expected to be in Appleton by the close of Tuesday afternoon's session of the Sixth Annual convention of the Wisconsin Retailers association which was called to order at Eagle Hall at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon by J. B. Langenberg, president. Registration of delegates began at Eagle hall at 8:30 Tuesday morning while the exhibits of the manufacturers were ready as early as Monday evening. It is expected that more than 200 women will attend the convention.

Neither the exhibits which include more than 5,000 samples of men's women's and children's shoes, boots, rubbers, and hosiery nor the meetings of the convention are opened to the public. The exhibits are planned for the convenience and information of the retail dealer rather than the consumer.

MILWAUKEE EXHIBIT

One of the features of the exhibit is the display brought here by more than 25 shoe manufacturers from Milwaukee, who are making a combined effort to center most of the Wisconsin shoe trade within the state. Practically every kind of shoe is manufactured in Wisconsin and can be purchased here more cheaply and with greater convenience because of the splendid transportation facilities out of Milwaukee.

Among the most interesting addresses was "The Retailer and Legislation" by Senator Oscar Morris of Milwaukee Tuesday afternoon at the opening session. Atty. F. L. Fawcett of Milwaukee also spoke and the Rev. G. K. MacInnis gave a humorous address on "Cooperation and Smiles."

PAPERMILL EMPLOYEES IN MICHIGAN STRIKE

Monroe, Mich.—Two hundred paper mill employees here were on strike Tuesday against a change in their working schedule which they claimed required them to work in 11 and 13 hour shifts, instead of eight hours as heretofore. Rearrangement of the shifts was in accordance with the company's plans to operate but five days a week in the departments affected by the walkout.

LOTUS FLOWERS ARE NOT PROTECTED BY WISCONSIN

Madison—Conservation commission wardens are not required to protect beds of lotus flowers on any lake in the state, the attorney general's office ruled Tuesday in an opinion to the Conservation Commission.
Passing of a law regulating the taking of the flower from the lakes should be a matter for the conservation commission to consider presenting to the next legislature, the opinion said.

BOARD READY FOR ACTIONS ON SENIORITY

Jewell Declares That Shopmen Are Not Expected to Make Acceptance

HARDING'S MOVE IS FINAL

Strike Action By Other Rail Unions Is Not Looked For At Meeting

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—President Harding's second proposal for immediate termination of the railway shopcrafts strike awaited formal action, Friday, by both sides in the controversy, but rejection by the unions was foreboded in statements by their leaders here.

Chief executives of the shopcrafts were called to meet here Wednesday to consider the president's proposal that the seniority issue be left to the labor board for determination. At the same time, however, the shopcrafts leaders who issued the call also sought a general conference next Friday with all executives of railroad labor organizations.

B. M. Jewell as spokesman for the trio of shopcraft leaders said it was not expected that strike action will be suggested at the general conference which also will meet here.

EXPECT "TURN DOWN"

In connection with the call for shopcraft executives to meet and pass on the president's proposal Mr. Jewell pointed out that he and his colleagues did not have authority to answer for the federation. He added, however, that "nobody ought to get the idea that the shop federation will accept" at this time. He said the action Tuesday was officially described as "final" so far as the government's efforts to bring the strike to a settlement through voluntary action of the two parties is concerned. Just what significance attaches to the description is not apparent though it implies that should failure again mark the president's attempt to mediate the controversy the government has a course of action in view to protect the interests of the nation as a whole. Pending formal replies to the White House communications sent Monday however it appeared unlikely that alternative plans would be disclosed.

LABOR BOARD PREPARED

Chicago—Acting upon President Harding's new suggestion for ending the rail strike the United States railroad Labor Board Tuesday stood ready to "promptly and redily consider and determine the question of seniority rights sole remaining barrier to peace on the railroads." In a majority resolution announced Monday night the board assumed such willingness to act on the seniority controversy and to open hearings on the wage and rule issues originally involved in the strike.

A. O. Wharton the only one of the three labor members present at the meeting voted against the resolution after an amendment he had offered was voted down.

The board's offer to hear the seniority question and render a decision on it, came on the heels of President Harding's proposal to railway executives and the striking shopcrafts. Statements bearing on a threatened tie up of railroad transportation were made by Martin F. Ryan, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, who declared that the big brotherhoods will be drawn into the strike within two weeks if a speedy settlement is not made.

TYPHOON DEATH TOLL IS 28,000

Hongkong—Typhoon stricken Swatow, a mangled and miserable caricature of the port of a week ago, gorgedly goes about the first ghastly task that falls to survivors of the storm burial of the dead. Bodies of 28,000 have been recovered, a death toll that triples former estimates and cut in half former population of the native city. These figures were given in a circular issued by the Swatow Chamber of Commerce from its branch in Hongkong.

Rude coffins have been hammered together with lumber salvaged from the wreck of the city, but these cannot be knocked together fast enough to dispose of bodies which are a sanitary menace to the health of the living. Gunny sacks and mattress bags have been made into crude shrouds. Graves are hurriedly dug in the alluvial flats on which the port was built, that bodies may be interred as they are recovered from the wreckage.

60 Manufacturers Show Thousands Of Shoes At Shoemen's Convention

Milwaukee Monopolizes Display Space With Vast Displays of Good Product—Low Shoes and Oxfords are Leading.

With more than 60 display booths in Armory G filled with every conceivable kind of shoe, the exhibits brought here for the benefit of visiting retail merchants are the best and biggest that have ever been used at a Wisconsin state convention. Several displays from Maine, New Hampshire and New York have come the farthest for the convention, while Wisconsin shoe manufacturers are here to show what their own state can offer.

More than 25 Milwaukee shoe and leather manufacturers are attracting a good deal of attention at this convention as the result of a concentrated effort to center Wisconsin shoe buying in Wisconsin. The Milwaukee manufacturers came to Appleton with banners and trademarks flying and are sparing no effort to let every merchant and shoe buyer know that Milwaukee is the home of "quality shoes."

ALL GET TOGETHER
The Milwaukee manufacturers banded together as soon as Appleton was set for the convention city for 1922 and contracted for display space where they could be together. The center booths and those at the rear of the armory have been used by the Milwaukee exhibitors, with their slogan, "Quality First—Always Milwaukee" combined with reproductions of the trade marks of each Milwaukee firm over the entire Milwaukee display space.

According to retailers, the Milwaukee products are rapidly coming to the front and the manufacturers there are going at their business progress with much enthusiasm.

Other Wisconsin manufacturers also are represented in large numbers and with goodly showings of foot-wear and rubber products. More than a third of the exhibitors are from outside the state and their displays are extensive and of splendid quality. Many of the styles featured by the eastern exhibitors have not yet become popular in the middle west.

SHOW MANY LOW SHOES
Low shoes are being shown more than high shoes, with oxfords and strap pumps the best sellers. Especially attention is being paid to juvenile styles for growing boys and girls. Two-tone combinations are, being favored for men, women and children. Many novelty boots are shown and very good looking conservative numbers.

The Milwaukee exhibitors at the convention are:

With an artistic combination of tints of tan and old ivory with Tiffany panel motifs, the Elite theatre has been redecorated to be one of the prettiest moving picture theatres in this part of the state. The walls and ceiling have been tinted in keeping with the stately lines of the auditorium. Colored lighting effects on the stage are soft and subdued giving the whole theatre a restful and refined appearance in distinct contrast to the gaudy and glaring appearance of more showy decorations.

New draperies in soft brown velvet have been placed at the entrance and nosegays of bright colored flowers make the supporting pillars festive. A hedge of bright flowers has been used across the front of the stage. The entire theatre has been repaired and new floor covering put on the aisles.

Sees White Robin
Dennis Meidam, sexton at River side cemetery, said a white robin has been making its home in the cemetery for several days. Of the many birds that frequent that part of the city this is the first one of its kind Mr. Meidam recalls ever having seen.

Piles
are usually due to straining when constipated. Nujol being a "lubricant" keeps the food waste soft and therefore prevents straining. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it not only soothes the suffering of piles but relieves the irritation, brings comfort and helps to remove them.

START MOVEMENT TO REACH CITY'S 512 ILLITERATES

Vocational School Will Conduct
Night Classes for Adults
Who Can't Read

A movement to give every illiterate person in Appleton an opportunity of learning to read and write is being undertaken by the Appleton Vocational school, assisted by the Appleton Women's club. For experiment a census was taken of the number of illiterates in Appleton, and while this city is not of foreign speaking population, 512 persons over 18 years old were found who cannot read and write.

The movement to organize English clubs this fall in every ward of the city has been adopted. Those who have recently come to this country or have not had the opportunity of learning English will be urged to join the clubs. They will be part of the evening program of the vocational school.

Clubs will be conducted in the grade schools and will meet two nights a week. The Appleton Women's club is cooperating with the vocational school in extending the invitations to join the clubs and it is hoped that 100 per cent of the people on the illiterate list will take advantage of the opportunity which is to be offered. The aim is to make Appleton a city in which every adult can read and write the English language.

The federal census for 1920 shows there are 50,000 such people in Wisconsin. When illiterates learn that a man can earn on an average of 50 cents a day more when he can read and write, it is expected that all will join the clubs. The economic loss to the country due to illiteracy amounts to $1,000,000 a year and inability to read signs exacts a toll of 1,000 lives yearly.

MAKE RAPID PROGRESS ON WESTERN PAPERMILL

First photographs have arrived in Appleton showing the Westminster Paper Mills, Ltd., now under construction at New Westminster, B. C., in which Jacob J. Herb and Michael F. Herb, formerly of Appleton, are interested. Fred F. Wettengel has received one of these photographs showing the foundation work of the machine building and the partial structure of the finishing building. It will be the only tissue paper mill within a radius of 2,500 miles, it is said. The Herb brothers severally superintended the construction of paper mills at Merritt, Ont., Steven Point, Menasha and Peshtigo. Michael F. Herb now is in Appleton disposing of the remainder of the company's stock.

X-Ray Machine Invention Of Freedom Men

Appleton people who make use of the opportunity to see their feet right through their shoes by means of an X-ray machine invented for that purpose and in use at the Novelty Shoe Retailers association convention may thank two Freedom boys for the invention. M. E. Adrian, son of a former well known blacksmith at Freedom has perfected this machine which enables shoe purchasers to see the exact position of their feet in the shoes. He and his brother, S. Adrian, are at the convention to demonstrate their machine which is an improvement over former types because it takes less space and is, as the inventor says, more fool proof.

Mr. Adrian is remembered in Appleton as a former employee of the Schlafier Hardware company where he had his first job. Since that time he has been working with several electric companies, paying special attention to X-ray processes.

WOMAN IS FINED FOR ABUSING NEIGHBOR

In the abusive language case of Gertrude Kramer vs. Ida Grundeman tried before a jury in municipal court Monday afternoon the defendant was found guilty and fined $10 and costs, the latter amounting to $17.48.

The jury consisted of William Van Stratum, John Hoffman, Leonard Auers and A. H. Theurer and reached a decision within ten minutes after the case was turned over to it. Eleven witnesses, practically all of them neighbors, were examined.

At the close of the trial Judge Spencer reprimanded the defendant and informed her that if she ever appeared before him again he would inflict a much heavier penalty.

Mail Car Damaged

The mail car driven by Max Hoffman was damaged when it was struck Monday evening by an automobile driven by J. O. Polzin, 938 Oneida st. The accident occurred at the driveway of the Appleton postoffice. Mr. Hoffman was driving east on Washington st. and intended to turn into the driveway, but was intercepted by a car owned by Clyde Morow of Shawano. The Shawano car was parked across the drive way, it is said. No one was injured.

BUSINESS BOOMS BUT PROSPERITY STILL IS REMOTE

Swift and Co. Expert Discusses
Business at Lions Club Luncheon

The physical volume of business is on the increase, according to W. F. Bushong of the Public Relations department of Swift & Co., who spoke at the weekly noonday luncheon of the Lions club at the Sherman house Monday. Although such a condition indicates an improvement in business, it is no positive assurance that another period of business prosperity is at hand, he added.

"Prosperity is a cumulative," the speaker asserted, "it is slow building process and it cannot be accomplished overnight. One of the factors that brings it about is an increase in the physical volume of business, such as we have today in the steel industry, in the automobile industry, as evidenced by the building boom and as shown by many other industries. This however, is the mere beginning of the cumulative of prosperity."

MAKES FOR OPTIMISM
Such a condition is generally accompanied by a decided increase in optimism which naturally makes everyone readier to buy with freedom. Mr. Bushong pointed out. He believes it must increase to a point where it brings about higher prices and higher price scales. "These three things," the speaker continued, "a larger volume of business, increased optimism and higher prices,—react on the business situation by increasing profits and encouraging investments, which in turn react by augmenting trade justifying optimism and raising prices."

"The cumulative working of each of these different factors is necessary before business can be said to be nearing the prosperity stage. In applying the conditions of today to these facts, it becomes quite obvious that prosperity is still some distance in the future."

The speaker also called attention to the necessity of educating the people with respect to the facts and conditions as they apply in different industries and especially in those industries where large scale production prevails. A very high degree of specialization exists in industry today. It has been a distinct boon to society in many ways, but in one respect it has had a harmful effect and that is because of the lack of knowledge of facts regarding the other fellow and his business problems, he said.

Destructive criticism predicted upon mere supposition or hearsay is one of the most vicious evils which exists today, he charged. Every possible step should be taken to eliminate it, and the most feasible way is a campaign of education wherein the facts are outlined to the people so they can draw their own conclusions.

CABBAGE ACREAGE BIGGEST IN YEARS

Outagamie co. is sharing in Wisconsin's bumper crop of cabbages this year according to Paul Nyhus, farm agent. In both the state and the county the acreage is about 50 per cent larger than in 1921. Due to the high prices for the short crop of cabbage last year, a great number of farmers who never raised cabbage extensively before planted large patches this year. In Racine and Kenosha counties it is taking the place of a poor sugar beet crop, it is reported.

THE PEOPLE'S AID

This offers the readers of the Post-Crescent the benefit of a new service. Persons having problems bearing on city administration or public service are invited to send them to the Post-Crescent for publication in this column. Representatives of this paper will take the matter up with the proper authorities and endeavor to secure an adjustment. Complaints other than mere personal grievances will be handled in this way.

This column is not to be the medium for the exchange of ideas of general interest. The People's Forum, another department of this paper, serves this purpose. Nor is it to take the place of the Question Box department which is ably conducted by Frederick J. Haskin of Washington. But complaints and questions pertaining to local public service will receive attention. It should be stated at the outset to avoid any misunderstanding that this paper will give no legal counsel, or medical advice, or any similar professional service. It will however act as the people's proxy and present their complaints to the authorities for adjustment. City and utility authorities have already promised their cooperation in this address.

If there is any recurrent disturbance of the peace in your neighborhood, tell us about it. If nuisances are permitted on any streets, if professional beggars, peddlers or canvassers are harassing you, if you feel that certain streets should be paved, if sewers are inadequate in your neighborhood, if you know of any leaky gas mains, if electric street lights are needed in your district, etc., inform us. The Post-Crescent will take your complaint in charge and learn what has been done about it or what is to be done about it or why nothing has been done about it. Both question and answer will be published.

All communications should bear the name and address of the sender, although this identity will not in any way be revealed. The name and address is necessary, as the departments in charge cannot honor any unsigned complaints. Send in your complaints today.

As the average acreage is seen in the following: 17,300 acres in 1922, as compared with 11,000 acres in 1921 and the five year average of 14,700 acres. The yield is said to be 92 per cent as compared with 80 per cent of last year. A production of 146,000 tons is looked for this year. Last year only 57,000 tons were produced and the average production for 10 years has been 115,000.

In Outagamie co. the cabbage acreage this year 3,590. This is much in excess of the 1921 acreage, which is 2,245. Patches in the county average about four and five acres. Some of the farmers have 15 acres or more planted.

TOURISTS RETURN FROM LONG TRIP

Canadian Cities Have Not Yet
Provided Tourist Camping Sites

A man and woman were killed by an interurban car near Jackson, Mich., last week almost before the very eyes of a group of Appleton and Berlin tourists.

The party consisted of Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, E. H. Harwood, Appleton photographer, Postmaster E. K. Cunningham of Berlin, H. C. Truesdell and Warren A. Davis, also of Berlin, who returned from a 1,900 mile automobile camping trip around Lakes Michigan and Huron.

They were the first to arrive at the scene of the disaster in which Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Omara of Detroit were struck by the interurban car. Their Essex car was completely demolished and the couple seemed to have been killed instantly, although none of their limbs were cut off. The accident occurred on a detour road between the Interurban line and the Michigan Central road.

The campers were gone about two weeks, leaving here on July 22. Their observations are that part of Canada is a beautiful country but the people do not seem to be alive to the need of tourist camps. Only at a few places were tourist camps to be found. The Canadians seem to be strongly in favor of an international Great Lakes to the sea waterway project, but prefer the route that leads from Georgian Bay through North Bay to the Ottawa river instead of the St. Lawrence route. Mr. Corbett said.

Photographs were taken all along the way and stops were made at the various chamber of commerce offices. Bowling on the green seemed to be the most popular sport among the Canadians. They play it for amusement, but golf, they say, is merely a disease.

The homeward trip was made by way of Jackson, Detroit, Battle Creek, Chicago, Sheridan road, Milwaukee and highway 57.

Great Shoe Plant Got Start Here

One of the most prominent of the Milwaukee shoe companies to have a display at Armory G in connection with the sixth annual Wisconsin Shoe Retailers' convention had its beginning in Appleton in 1892. The Weyenberg Shoe Manufacturing company, which now has a capacity of 10,000 pairs of men and boys' shoes for every day, has grown from a small concern which made its first pairs of logging boots in Appleton by hand. Frank L. Weyenberg son of Martin Weyenberg 776 Appleton st., now is president of the company which got its start in this city.

In 1896, the originators of the Weyenberg hand-made shoes for cruisers moved their business to Chippewa Falls where it remained until the logging business practically died out in that part of the country. In 1901 the Weyenberg Shoe Manufacturing company was moved to Milwaukee, where it has been growing until it is now one of the largest shoe plants in the northwest. There are two factories in Milwaukee and one at Beaver Dam.

REED'S NOMINATION

Senator James A. Reed may well regard his renomination at the Missouri primary election as a personal triumph over opposition that possessed no mean political force and ability. He had been condemned by former President Wilson as a disturber during the Wilson administration, and thus the Wilson wing of the Democratic party was against him. His so-called liberal sentiments had aroused the opposition of the prohibitionists, and his antagonism to the maternity bill had alienated some of the women. Resolutions had been passed by Missouri Democrats condemning his senatorial actions, and in 1920 he was not allowed to be a delegate to the Democratic national convention. Notwithstanding all this, he has defeated Breckinridge Long, third assistant secretary of state during the Wilson administration, and an ardent supporter of the League of Nations—which Senator Reed had bitterly opposed—and other Wilson policies. His plurality, like Mercutio's wound, is "not so deep as a well, nor so wide as a church door; but 'tis enough, 'twill serve."

Whatever may be thought of Reed as a senator, all who understand politics must agree that he is a superior campaigner—at any rate, among the kind of people who vote in Missouri. On the stump he can be all things to all men—and women. His method of addressing the voters is not merely dramatic, it is theatrical, and the primary returns would indicate that it is effectively so. To overcome the opposition of the women he dwelt eloquently on the beauties of maternity, and he assumed an attitude of sorrow rather than of anger in regard to the former president's evidently angry opposition to him. In newspaper parlance this sort of thing is called "sob stuff," and it must be admitted that Reed did it better than most newspapers do. If Missouri desires to be represented by Reed it can say so November 7; that is Missouri's affair. The rest of the country would have preferred a representative less disturbing to legislative traffic.

Looking back on the primary campaign now, some "ifs" appear to have had an influence. If the antagonism to Reed had not been so bitter; if there had not been the complication as to whether the former president did or did not write a certain letter; if Reed himself had not felt that the moment had come when he must do or die; if Long had been a more aggressive campaigner with the habit of success instead of defeat—if, in a word, things had been different, but they were not different, and so Reed will make the senatorial contest against Brewster, whose nomination is welcome to the regular Republicans, and comes as a balm to the sores caused by Iowa, Nebraska and North Dakota.

OUT WITH THE SELF-SEEKERS

When Andrew Jackson first saw himself mentioned in a newspaper as a probable candidate for the presidency he threw the paper down in anger. "Do they think," said he, "that I am such a d... fool as to think myself fit for president of the United States? No, sir, I know what I am fit for. I can command a body of men in a rough way, but I am not fit to be president."

But the people sought him out and elected him. Today the people are meeting in groups all over the country, as reports testify, to consider the grave question of their national legislature. They are sensing what former Senator Cole of California recently put into words: "Men today do not seem as greatly interested in national ideals. They spend vast sums to be elected. When I ran for senator from the state of California, I did not have a penny's worth of expense account to turn in.

Cornelius Cole will be 100 years old if he lives to September 17. His political memory recaptures that era "when a man was nominated for office, he was chosen because he could be trusted to take part in the dignified assemblage that met in both houses of congress." Mr. Cole then apologetically suggests he is old-fashioned. He is as old-fashioned as the average person who clings to the clean, simple fundamental truths of existence and refuses to let clamor and self-interest blur his vision. The era his career recalls is the memory that is stirring electors to the duty of restoring that type of dignity and ability to a congress which has earned and received contempt.

The simple truth is that during latter years politics have been permitted to come into disrepute, and politicians are held up to scorn. To go into politics as a profession or business is held a sign of almost moral delinquency, because the public offices are bulging with such professional job seekers whose self-interest is their sole interest.

Whether we think this is a right situation, or need convincing is of little moment. It is the situation. By yielding the highest honors of service to petty nobodies representation has fallen in public esteem. Hence we have no training school for statesmen, except the everyday affairs of life. This very situation gives the republic the right to draft men from private to public affairs. The situation should in time of need, excite public-spirited men to public service. Some only await a sign that they are desired, hesitating for fear that they are desired, hesitating for fear they be thought self-seeking or forward. They should be smoked out.

When the emergency has impressed itself on the consciousness of the whole people, as these recurring meetings suggest it is doing, then the two impulses may come together, that to demand a high character of representative, and the willingness to serve. When that time comes the national legislature will be restored to the high honor of its purpose.

AMERICA LEADS IN LETTER WRITING

According to the statistics of the post office department every American citizen received, or should have received, 112 letters in the year ended on June 30. In other words, the post office department delivered 11,335,000,000 letters.

The per capita exchange of letters in Great Britain is 84, Germany 25, Italy 24. The average of Great Britain, which is the highest, is 24 under the United States.

Do these statistics mean anything? In particular, they signify that the postal service is used more generally for business in the United States than anywhere else, for it is almost certain that the great percentage of letters transmitted is for business correspondence. It means, too, that Americans are more given to letter-writing than persons of other lands, but this is as it should be, because it is a long way from New York to San Francisco, from Minneapolis to New Orleans.

Injunction for Wives

Now why have not the women with husbands of ungracious tastes thought before of the remedy found by the wife of a Chicago man, who has been restrained by a court order from "visiting seeing talking to or riding with any woman," but his wife? This is a pretty comprehensive injunction and ought to keep peace in the family if anything will in a household where court orders are necessary.

There are embarrassments ahead for this Chicago man, but doubtless he has brought his punishment on himself. His wife says so. He has, to be sure, what some may regard as a mitigation of his sentence in the fact that the court issued another injunction, this one forbidding his mother-in-law from visiting his house or interfering with his affairs. But the fact remains that if any man wishes to put a check on the volatility of his husband and can find a compliant magistrate, there could hardly be a more effective way. Whether it would tend to increase domestic happiness is another matter.—INDIANAPOLIS STAR.

Bathe With Sunlight

The J. N. Adam Memorial hospital, 40 miles from Buffalo and 10 miles from Lake Erie, would not seem to be the ideal location for the treatment of tuberculosis, all forms with heliotherapy or sun baths, yet the method has proved successful there for several years.

Dr. Horace Lo Grasso, of the hospital staff, reporting the results of this mode of treatment at the last annual meeting of the Medical society of the state of New York, remarked that even Rollie himself, with the whole Swiss Alps, to choose from, has weeks and months of disagreeable weather when the sun cur has been discontinued or curtailed. Dr. Lo Grasso says solar radiation can be successfully practiced anywhere and the results which have been obtained at Perryburg, N. Y., should arouse not only the medical profession but every municipality to encourage the building of suitable quarters in connection with the tuberculosis hospitals where the so-called surgical cases can have the sun treatment. He ascribes the secrets of success at Perryburg to the fact that they have scrupulously followed the method made famous by Roller at Leysin. Visiting various institutions where heliotherapy (sun bathing) was supposed to be used, Dr. Lo Grasso has encountered surprising ignorance and disregard of the fundamental principles of the method; for instance patients with knee joint disease were taking the sun fully dressed but with the knee exposed to the sun. The entire body must be exposed to the sun, even though the lesion is apparently localized.

No layman or nurse is capable of supervising the institution of heliotherapy or sun bathing in a hospital or in a private case without the supervision and regular attendance of a physician who has knowledge of the method. Much harm may be done by amateur attempts to employ this powerful remedy.

In the course of the sun treatment the skin gradually tans, first bronze, then copper and finally a chocolate brown. As the pigmentation increases the condition of the skin itself improves, becoming soft, supple and velvety and free of any blemishes. The favorable progress of the case is in direct proportion to the intensity of the pigmentation. Brunettes tan the best and make the most rapid progress toward cure, while the freckled and red haired are the backward subjects.

None of the artificial means by which heliotherapy has been imitated give results comparable with sun bathing, although they are still experimenting with the arc light at Perryburg and are not yet ready to report finally upon its value. Dr. Lo Grasso says that as a rule within two weeks after the beginning of heliotherapy the pain is alleviated and the patient begins to improve in all respects.

No sun bath is given within an hour of meal time. And in midsummer none is given in the heat of midday.

The precise method cannot be described here. Great precaution is taken to expose only a small surface of the body for but a few minutes the first day, and the amount of surface and duration of exposure are both gradually and cautiously increased from day to day. On days when there is no sun, an air bath is given instead. Great care is taken to protect the uncovered body from wind or drafts of cold air. Of course no glass can be interposed, for the actinic or remedial effect of sunlight seems to be filtered out by glass.

Dr. Lo Grasso earnestly pleads for a preventive use of sunlight, by providing school buildings flooded with sunshine and fresh air.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Diet and Hay Fever

What foods should one avoid when he desires to obtain relief from hay fever?—(Cliff Dwyer).

Answer—I do not know that diet has any particular influence on hay fever.

Benzol

I have been employed for some time in a printing shop, and using benzol for cleaning printer's ink from my hands. I notice the strong fumes make my head ache. My nose and lips are irritated and don't seem to heal. Lately I've started having a severe irritating cough. The foreman laughs when I complain about it, but I'd like to know whether this benzol is a bad thing.—(B. K.)

Answer—Yes, benzol (also known as benzene, but not to be confused with benzoin) is a poisonous substance. It produces such effects as you describe. It is too poisonous to use in a shop merely for cleaning the hands.

F. W. and F. H.

Every night when you happen to have a hot one about stout people, my husband reads it aloud with many side remarks, and takes glee in it. But one night he got his, all right. That was the time when you described the tobacco habit. Friend Husband thought you were harsh and not sincere in that talk. What a difference it makes! Yet when his own doctor told him a short time later that he must quit smoking, he made a fizzle of the fight. Write some more about the tobacco habit. Dr. Brady, and make it as mean as you can.—(Mrs. D. M. C.)

Answer—May I imagine they can keep Lady Nicotine in hand reminding me of the old times when he boasted they could "take a drink or let it alone." Somehow a lot of them let it alone at a tragically early stage of their career, and just so the tobacco user who thinks he has the habit makes a fizzle of the effort to prove the habit hasn't got him.

The street committee was out looking over the route of the new electric railway through the city.

Capt. H. E. Pomeroy of Co. G left for Camp Douglas to visit the Fourth regiment while in camp.

The Misses E. Dewrose, Millie Wambold and Barbara McNaughton returned from a visit with Fond du Lac friends.

George A. Schmidt, Louis Lohman, Joseph Schweitzer and Karl A. Schuetter formed a quartet that went into camp at Lake Winnebago for two weeks.

C. L. Marston, at considerable personal risk, stopped a runaway horse on Oneida street.

James T. Ayles was appointed superintendent of the plant of the Nokona Paper Co. to succeed Mr. Young, resigned.

The excavation for the widening of the brewery hill to accommodate the new interurban railway was progressing rapidly.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

NO MORE WAR AT LEAST WAS A POPULAR SLOGAN

The "No More War" crusade was received with mixed emotions by newspaper editors generally. There was at all times a disposition to endorse the abstract principles of the suggestion, although in many instances doubt was expressed whether the persons who were most active in advocating the slogan were entirely sincere. The majority of the editorial opinion, however, indicated a belief that at least the sentiment was a noble one and worth endorsing while admitting it hardly could be expected to prevail.

"The no more war movement is a legitimate expression of the people's desire for peace," the Indianapolis NEWS believes, "and notwithstanding its traitors, there are too many honest people to let it be used for the damage of the country or the world." The New York POST pointed out that "as yet no resistance never has shut off hostilities and probably it never will. War is organized strife and strife is always with us and always in process of organization. Peace, therefore, is something that must be striven for. It is not enough to believe in it or hear it, the logic of the situation is this: Millions might march from now until Doomsday without doing as much for peace as could be accomplished by one American with the proper credentials at Geneva. The League is the world's central power plant of peace." Which causes the Utica OBSERVER DISPATCH, after reviewing at length the manner in which the recent war shattered every human scheme to end war, to declare that "there will be no more war when there is a brotherhood universal, rooted in the Fatherhood of God instead of mutual necessity, or science, or law, or commerce alone."

Those backing the present movement injure the cause of the true peace-lover the Chicago TRIBUNE is convinced arguing that "until pacifism in this country shows some common sense, some respect for the justice and peacefulness of our national temper and politics, and some recognition of the law of self-preservation, it deserves no support from any intelligent American man or woman, but the contrary should meet with general condemnation." However, the Philadelphia PUBLIC LEDGER holds that the contrary is true and that "the no more war movement deserves the active and prayerful help of all who would end international distrust and are working for a day of good-will and good-faith. The world has not seen the last of war. War, however, can be discouraged; it can be isolated when it flames up; it can be controlled, prevented, and even halted many times. There need never be any great catastrophe if the war spirit can be covered by hatred of itself. The no more war movement may help the world to remember its agony. The gravest danger it faces is that it may become identified in the public mind with that welter of communism, socialism, pacifism and emotionalism now hoping to use it for mixed but unmistakable ends. That is a very real threat to its usefulness."

There have been, in the view of the Huntington HERALD DISPATCH, wars that were justified so it argues that "what should be demanded is not war but those national crimes which demand resistance. What public opinion should be focused on is not the horror of war, but the criminality of national aggression." The Seattle UNION RECORD, however, is convinced that this is not the lesson to be drawn from the late war but that "the supreme lesson it taught is that the like must never happen again. Unless that lesson be learned the immeasurable sacrifice was all in vain." And the Bangor COMMERCE, endorsing the general slogan of no more war, insists that "we cannot accept the doctrine that under no circumstances should a nation refuse to accept war. Our country was entirely justified in entering the world war and any other course would have been that of a craven. If a nation runs amuck and starts a war of conquest it must be curbed by the only means that are available, the meeting of force with a superior force, but the constant preaching of the doctrine of no more war, with its arousal of public opinion, is perhaps the best insurance of the everlasting peace." The fact that the government is spending 80 per cent of its revenues on war aftermath and preparedness and that "America's educational system is all too strongly impregnated with militaristic beliefs, thinly disguised under the word 'defensive'" leads the Boston CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR to insist that "it is necessary to change the point of view that has made these things possible, even in a republic, in which the military arm traditionally has no part. The revision of this attitude is what the world is seeking. The revision must be radical. In this organized effort to tear the veil from the ugly face of the Moloch to which mankind has been making sacrifices since history began, the women deserve the active support of all communities in all countries. For it is only by united action that the world can hope to rid itself of the heaviest handicap upon its happiness and its genuine prosperity."

"The idea is inspiring and hopeful," says the New York EVENING WORLD, "and the growth of interest and activity in the cause is promising. Certainly it is true that if all of the world's people speak their will with one voice they can give the war-makers pause; it is quite possible they may give them their finish." But there is a question in the mind of the New York GLOBE whether the present tactics are the best because "the odds are all against pacifists once the war gets started. The war of the peace union is a kind of a council of despair. Their pledge is doomed to be the password of a small and futile minority. What they should do is to endeavor to work up a majority sentiment, not only against wars in the abstract, but against the particular wars that from time to time loom above the horizon. If they believe in democracy they must plan to control the government not to defeat it. The time is ripe for persuasion and statesmanship, not for heroics." It should always be remembered, the Dayton NEWS suggests "the public mind soon forgets. It is often in days of peace and prosperity and lulled to sleep under the spell of forgetfulness. Someone may say that we have too many movements and organizations in the field already and that these are likely to confuse the public. But as long as any menace hangs over America and the world, so long must the terrible lesson of war be taught and steps taken to make another such sacrificial disaster impossible."

"No formula of this sort," says the Richmond NEWS LEADER, "no smoothly logical syllogism, is to put and end go war. At every stage in the process which leads to it—from selfishness in the heart of the individual to needless national armament—the danger is to be combated by the religion and the intelligence of man. No single thing can prevent it, each single force or act of righteousness will help prevent it. Perhaps the best hope of eradicating war lies in the frank admission that it is much more nearly ineradicable than any generation ever has admitted."

A SAFE AIRCRAFT ENGINE?

London—The aviation expert of the Observer writes that contrary to a common belief, the principal fire danger in an airship is not due to the hydrogen gas, but to the petrol motors. Once a fire is started, the proximity of a great mass of hydrogen is, of course, perilous, but the origin of fire outbreak is in almost every case in the petrol system. An engine burning heavy oil of a high flash-point instead of the volatile and inflammable petrol has long been desired for all classes of aircraft, but especially for airships; and a great deal of research has been devoted to this object. Several months ago the Royal Aircraft Establishment had advanced matters considerably, in one direction promising an aero-engine of a Diesel character. Experiments in Germany, also, have reached a satisfactory stage; and Dr. Hugo Junkers had complete designs for a Diesel aero-engine in 1920.

It is not stated that Dr. Ricardo, whose engine research and design were of very great value to Great Britain in the war, has the result of labor undertaken more especially at the request of the airship authorities designed an engine that will burn paraffin combined with hydrogen gas—a flash-point of about 220 degrees as against 40 degrees, which is the normal flash-point of petrol.

The design is not actually ready for manufacture. It takes two or three years to produce a new petrol engine; and this is an engine of quite a new type; calling for the settlement of many new details. That, however, is a small matter; the engine should be in time for the shipment of the new type of engine, now before the Cabinet. That scheme, it will be remembered, entails a very small charge on the public purse, and either the Air Ministry or the Admiralty will meet it by economies elsewhere. Already underwriters have agreed that, on a favorable Cabinet decision, they will guarantee the subscription capital.

Reducing danger from fire to a negligible point, a heavy-oil fuel, in time for the ship, is an additional safety in the design of the airship. Even if the engine and fuel for a given duration weigh more (which by no means follows), weight and circumstances can be saved elsewhere.

As to the use of a small proportion of hydrogen as fuel, this would probably be drawn from the gas bags of the ship. During the first part of an airship voyage, and often subsequently, hydrogen is being given off into the atmosphere and is wasted. This can be utilized, but only towards the end of a long voyage, when the quantity of hydrogen becomes so small that it can only just carry the ship, sufficient for the engines could be drawn off.

The cost of paraffin fuel is, of course, very much less than that of petrol. Insurance rates would be reduced. And even if no definite improvement of the airship's capabilities resulted immediately from the introduction of such an engine, in the long run the whole airship proposition would be enormously improved.

SIR HARRY RESENTED AN INTERRUPTION

London—There was an unprecedented sensation at the Pavilion Theatre, in Piccadilly-circus, when Sir Harry Lauder publicly rebuked a girl sitting in a box, who interrupted him, the Daily Express says.

The famous comedian was singing his first song, and interspersing the verses with his inimitable "patter," when the girl, one of a party of six persons occupying a box, called out to the singer, audibly repeated many of his words, to the annoyance of both the performer and the audience. Sir Harry Lauder put up with the girl's astonishing behavior for a time but, as she continued to interrupt, his forbearance at last gave way, and he came to a stop. He paused for a moment, while the whole audience became hushed, and then, looking at the girl in the box, he said, so that every one could hear:

"Lady, I think you have been drinking more than water, and more shame to the man that let you have it."

The audience was astounded by the incident, and the girl in the box gave no more trouble. A couple of commissionaires entered the box and stood at the back of it for some time. There were no further interruptions.

Costly To Forget

House wreckers, tearing down an old homestead in Worcester, Mass., find a sealed envelope behind a secret panel.

Envelope was received through the mails in 1845 by James Henry Schofield. He put it away by error and forgot to open it. Inside is a will leaving to Schofield a Scotch estate worth nearly $1,000,000 then. What is it worth now? Schofield's heirs will rush to Edinburgh to find out.

The case is an allegorical warning to people who continually are saying "I forgot." That is the most costly expression that ever rolls from the tongue of man.

To prevent accidents, the signal section of American Railway Association is working to make certain color signals universal.

It wants red used only where there is real danger. Auto tail lights would be changed to yellow. Green lights would be used only for fire escapes and as "go ahead" signals.

Standardized signals are becoming increasingly necessary as traffic gets more congested. But the railroad signal experts have cut themselves out a job about as easy as inducing every one to shave his head. The job, however, will have to be tackled eventually.

Cost of running the national government now is 9 cents a day for each of us, and for candy we spend 2 cents a day apiece.

William Moffet, of the National Salesman's Association, says the nation's candy bill is $750,000,000 a year. Half of this big sum is spent by the kiddies, in pennies and nickels.

We notice the government's cost because most of it is assessed in a lump, while candy and similar luxuries take their toll in small but steady nibbles.

Cost of living is going down in one branch of the government end. Interest paid by Uncle Sam on the public debt during June was about $39,000,000 less than in June 1920.

This saving, due mainly to lower money rates, is at a rate of nearly $470,000,000 a year. That is a very heavy weight lifted from the shoulders of taxpayers.

The average shoe dealer last year lost money, the loss being about 2 per cent of net sales, according to Bureau of Business Research of Harvard University.

Even when prices were highest many retail merchants lost money, due partly to unfair practices by customers—such as getting a spool of thread delivered five miles or returning garments after wearing them once to a dance.

We need schools to teach people how to buy scientifically, more than we need schools of scientific salesmanship.

A four-year course in training students to be hotel managers will be started by Cornell University.

We need similar schools for every industry. Few men who go into business for themselves make a success of it because it takes them a lifetime to learn what a school could teach in a few years.

To learn merchandising and management is harder than mastering astronomy or analytical trigonometry. It looks easy until you try it—as every apprentice finds when he is learning his trade.

Q. Do flies ever cause blindness? C. H. G.

A. The prevalence of blindness in Egypt is probably traceable to the fact that the fly is sacred in that country. It is said that a mother will not kill a fly or even brush it from the eyelid of her child. Infection is often carried from one child to another, and in the case of diseased eyes, the malady is spread in this manner.

Q. When was the freedom of the press first established? E. H.

A. The constitutions of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and North Carolina, all adopted in 1776, contained the earliest declarations of any legislative authority in favor of the liberty of the press. With the adoption of Article One, amending the United States Constitution, in 1791, the principle of a free press and free speech was for the first time written into the organic law of an important nation.

Q. What will clean tombstones that have turned dark and look dirty? A. L. S.

A. Wash the surface with a mixture of finely powdered pumice stone and vinegar, and leave it for several hours; then brush it hard, and wash clean.

Q. Do elephants make a noise when charging? I. M. C.

A. An African elephant when about to charge gives vent to a shrill loud trumpet, while the Indian elephant curls up its trunk and charges in silence.

Q. Please explain the significance of the phrase "comity of nations." A. S. W.

A. It is an expression in international law which defines that spirit of courtesy which causes one nation to recognize the laws and institutions of another in such a manner as to permit them to take effect within its own territory.

Q. What is a staple shoe? R. R. K.

A. Staple is a general term applied to shoes embodying such features of style and make-up as render them subject to repeated demand from customers—as distinguished from the "novelty," and "freak," or the "specialty."

Q. What is the origin of the words wholesale and retail? J. A. W.

A. The word wholesale is merely a combination of the words whole and sale. Retail is from the Old French retail meaning a cutting, and connected with the Modern French retailer meaning to cut off.

Q. Can you tell me the name of the medicine discovered during the war which neutralizes pus? S. J. C.

A. The Surgeon General's Office says that this was Dichloron-T.

Q. What relation was Marion Harland to Virginia Terhune Van de Water? W. N.

A. Marion Harland was the non de plume under which Mrs. Edward Payson wrote. This noted woman died on June 2nd, leaving three children, all of them writers of note. Two of them, Mrs. Virginia Terhune Van de Water, and Mrs. Christine Terhune Herriek, and the other a son, Albert Payson Terhune.

Q. How long have house-boats been in use? C. N. O.

A. While palatial house-boats were used by the Roman emperors and have been in continuous use

All Kinds Of Boots But None Ready To Wear

"Boots, boots, marching up and down again,
"Boots, boots, marching up and down again,
There's no relief from the war."

Such were the words of the poet Kipling about some war or other, but if he were a visitor at the exhibits of the shoe manufacturers at Armyory G he would have been inspired with the same idea, only his own boots would be doing the marching.

The armyory is filled to capacity and even the galleries with exhibits of the new fall styles in men's, women's, children's and flappers' styles and all the admiring and envious visitor can do is march around wondering which ones she could afford to buy.

And with due apologies to the author of the "Ancient Mariner," the exhibits remind us of a parody on that famous thirst phrase: "Water, water." It runs like this: "Footwear, footwear, everywhere. Nor any pair to wear."

Of the 5,000 samples on display only one shoe of each style is provided for exhibition purposes. Numbers are being given away at many of the booths which will entitle the fortunate ones to any style of shoe in the display, but the only ones who can be fortunate in that case are the shoe dealers and their guests.

CHANGE OF LIFE WOMAN'S TRIAL
Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois. — "I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all I claim to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time, when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicine." — EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 4th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

THE STAGE

Raymond Hitchcock in "The Beauty Shop"

A revelation of the possibilities of screen comedy is shown in "The Beauty Shop" with Raymond Hitchcock and an all star cast opening today at Fischer's Appleton Theatre for three days. This picture signals the return to the screen of the famous comedian who was seen in two trailers a few years ago, and a more auspicious return could hardly have been arranged as "The Beauty Shop" is entertainment de luxe.

One cannot help praising when considering this support for Mr. Hitchcock, Billy B. Van, James J. Corbett, Louise Fazenda, the Fairbank Twins, Montagu Love, Diana Allen and Laurence Wheat. That is assuredly one of the most remarkable casts ever seen in a picture comedy.

The story is that of Dr. Arbutus Budd, a New York beauty specialist who poses as the missing baron of the Principality of Bolognia. Dr. Budd expects to find a fortune in Bolognia, but instead gets more than his share of trouble, his only legacy being a duel with a notorious bad man. After an immense comical array of adventures and complications matters straighten out for Dr. Budd and all ends happily.

STATE TRYING TO LEARN COAL NEEDS OF PLANTS HERE

Mill Owners Receive Questionnaires from Wisconsin Coal Commission

Fond du Lac industrial plants have received a request for certain information relative to coal requirements from the Wisconsin state coal committee.

The committee states that in making this request they desire to primarily impress upon the management of the plants the importance of not overestimating actual requirements.

It is the aim to endeavor to keep all of the industrial plants producing and the committee frankly declares that with the question of conservation kept uppermost and by cooperation with the committee, the situation can be handled.

With the request from the state committee is a blank to be filled out. Among some of the questions to be answered on the blank relates to the stock of coal on hand July 31, what coal is in transit, total fuel consumption for years ended May 1 with a designation of the kind of coal soft, hard, coke or fuel wood.

The average weekly consumption is requested with an estimated consumption by the month for the year starting August 1.

There is also provision for a report on the kind and grade of coal normally used, whether plant requirements are such as to practically necessitate the use of certain grades and kinds of coal, from what source coal comes, whether shipped from docks, via car ferry, rail from eastern fields or middle west, name of dealer from whom purchased, point from where shipped, quantities on tons, etc.

If the plant is served by an industry sidetrack, the name of the railroad is requested.

PIPELESS FURNACE BARRED IN SCHOOLS

The industrial commission of Wisconsin is opposed to the installation of pipeless furnaces in rural schools. # RENEW SEARCH FOR WABENO BANK LOOT

Discovery of Abandoned Automobile in Woods Revives Interest in Hunt

The search for the $32,000 loot of the Wabeno bank bandits for the next few days will center in the woods near Athelstane, Marinette county, as a result of the finding of a rust-eaten car on an abandoned logging trail in the wilderness 20 miles east of Wabeno by two berry pickers. Wabeno bank officials and the sheriff and deputies of Forest county are expected to comb the area around the abandoned car.

Two men from DePere went up into Marinette county to pick berries several days ago. They parked their auto several miles west of Athelstane and plunged into the woods on an abandoned logging trail that was overgrown with underbrush. Some distance from the highway they came upon a weather beaten touring car. The side curtains were down and the metal parts were deeply eaten with rust. The car bore an Iowa license plate of the year 1920.

The two men after looking the car over went on with their berry picking with no thought of the robbery. They returned to DePere and reported their discovery and it was immediately linked with the Wabeno State bank robbery, which occurred in July, 1921, and for which Willis Lesperance, his brother, Lawrence, and Chalmers Teager are now serving terms in Waupun. The bandits, according to their confession, buried the loot in the woods some distance from Wabeno while the posse were hot on their trail. The woods in the vicinity of Wabeno were thoroughly searched immediately after the capture of the bandits, but the hunt did not take in the area where the car was found.

Recently one of the bandits was taken from Waupun penitentiary to aid in the renewed hunt for the loot, but failed to recognize any of the territory through which he was taken as the hiding place of the money and securities.

With R. A. Small, ventilation engineer of the industrial commission, and received the reply below:

"A pipeless furnace is not acceptable for installation in any school house in this state. The reason for this is that the pipeless furnace depends for its operation upon return air circulation, while our code requires the use of all outside air during school hours. "We are, moreover, discouraging any provision whatever for return air because we find that such provision is so often misused in practice."

CHERRY CROP TWICE AS BIG AS IN 1921

The cherry crop in Door co. this year is double that of last year and all crops in Wisconsin have made good progress except corn during the latter half of the month of July, according to the Crop Reporting Service report.

Several weeks of good warm weather, however, will insure a good corn crop which although having a good stand and color, has made very little progress. Most of the grain is already cut and up in shocks. Oats in southern counties has short straw but heavy well filled grain.

Conditions in northern counties are excellent. The yield of barley and rye is slightly above the average. Hay crops are heavy, but have been cured with difficulty because of frequent showers. Potatoes continue in excellent condition and cabbage is heading well. Livestock declined due to annoyance of flies, it is reported.

FOR EVERY MAN—

“FOOT FITTER”

STYLE -- COMFORT -- WEAR

Seven Points of Supremacy

1. The sole leather used in "FOOT-FITTERS" is of the best quality obtainable. Even the insoles are cut from standard outside leather.
2. "FOOT-FITTERS" are the only brand of shoes having full length vamps and sole leather box toes. This feature prevents slipping at the tip and makes a smooth outer and inner surface.
3. The insoles are shoulder channelled so that they fit tightly against the outsole. There is no need or room for a cork filler. A small piece of duck is used between the inner and outer soles to prevent squeaking.
4. The calfskin inside counter pocket is of great value, for it saves the wear on the socks. There is no rough surface to rub against.
5. "FOOT-FITTER" heels are  $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch longer than generally used. They give additional support to the arch and increase the comfort and wear of the shoe.
6. The vamp is re-enforced with 8-oz. duck. This absorbs the moisture from the foot, and so keeps the vamp from cracking and holds the shoe in shape.
7. Edmonds "FOOT-FITTER" shoes are called "FOOT-FITTERS" because they fit the foot snugly. Built on combination lasts they support the foot like a doctor's bandage. — "FOOT-FITTERS" give Comfort, Service and Appearance.

Buzz-Saw Test Shows You Remarkable Construction Features

If you are at the youthful age where you demand snap and dash in shoes, come to this store. We have a Foot-Fitter style to suit you exactly.

If you lean toward more conservative styles, yet demand a fashionable shoe with grace of line, come to us; the style YOU prefer is built into a Foot-Fitter shoe. STYLES FOR MEN OF ALL AGES. FOR EVERY INDIVIDUAL TASTE.

That becomes a doubly important fact when you understand the famous Foot-Fitter construction features which have made Foot-Fitters the most-talked-of shoes in America.

SEE THE BUZZ-SAW TEST

You can see the Buzz-Saw test at this store—a Foot-Fitter shoe sawed in two revealing just what goes into the shoe and how it is constructed. It shows why Foot-Fitters keep their stylish lines; how they are re-inforced to hold their shape; why the insoles never get humply; why Foot-Fitters feel so comfortable right from the start; why they give the limit of wear.

We want you to know the inside construction of Foot-Fitters — that's what really counts. Style, comfort and wear all depend on what you don't usually see in a shoe—the inner part of it. That's why you should see the Buzz-Saw Test.

LOW PRICES

Foot-Fitter prices are low for the real shoe quality you get. You'll agree to that when you see how they're built. Standardized methods of manufacture bring Foot-Fitter prices down. You get the benefit. We carry a complete line of Foot-Fitters. See how they're made, then choose your style.

HEALTH LAWS TO BE ENFORCED HERE

Board of Health Threatens Drastic Action Against Law Violators

Persons who make a practice of dumping garbage and other matters detrimental to health on public dumping grounds of the city are liable to arrest unless they discontinue the practice. At a meeting of the board of health in the city hall Monday evening it was decided to enforce the law for offenses of this kind which carry with them a heavy penalty.

The question of outside toilets came up also for consideration and the members went on record as favoring the enforcement of the ordinance relating thereto.

The ordinance provides that as soon as a street is provided with sewer and water main owners of property shall connect up all closets, sinks, bathtubs and lavatories within a specified time or be subject to arrest and fine.

Reports have reached the board of public health that the ordinance has not been complied with in many instances throughout the city.

BADGES INDICATE SHOE DELEGATES

Red, white and blue badges are being worn by the delegates to the Wisconsin Shoe Retailers convention, which opened Tuesday morning in Appleton. If the bearer displays a white badge, one may be sure that "she's" a woman delegate. The red badges are being worn by shoe merchants and the manufacturers are distinguished by the blue badges.

For the convenience in filing, registration cards also are of two colors. The white ones are for the retailers and the yellow cards for the manufacturers to sign. Each delegate is, on registering, also supplied with a descriptive booklet of Appleton and with free postcards.

The program booklets were designed for all activities of the convention. Songs for community singing are included. It also contains a list of the booths and their displays. Along with the names of the exhibitors space is left for annotation of appointments. The decorations are very neat and illustrate the history of shoemaking from 600 B. C. to the present era.

Wagner, superintendent of the work house, has the distinction of securing the first one issued, and H. A. Shan non, clerk of court, the second one.

The fee for a license is $1 the same as last year with 25 cents extra for a deer tag. The deer tags have not arrived, but are expected within the next few days.

The season for minks and muskrats in Outagamie Co. will remain closed, this decision having been reached at a recent meeting of conservationists at the courthouse.

Many Tourists in Canada

Joseph Kox of the Pulp Wood company returned Sunday evening with his family from Canada where he has been absent on business and pleasure for five weeks. Most of the time was spent at Port Arthur, Ontario. Tourists are very much in abundance

The Scott highway from Port Arthur to Duluth, a distance of 220 miles, is in excellent condition, he said. Patriages in Canada are so thick and tame that they are run over by automobiles on the road. More than a dozen were killed this way in one evening, he said.

The resolution was presented by W. H. Kreiss and reads:

"It is recommended that the board of education establish two junior high schools for the city of Appleton and that the state superintendent be requested to issue certificates of establishment."

"It is recommended that the board of education adopt the so-called plan B, that is, that two junior high schools be erected as soon as possible, one to be located in the west end of the city approximately between the Third and Fifth wards, and the other to be erected in the east or northeast end of the city."

COST ABOUT $425,000

"It is further recommended that these buildings together with the sites, equipment and all other outlay or expense shall not be erected at a cost to exceed $425,000."

"It is recommended that steps be taken to secure the union system of schools for the city of Appleton in accordance with the plan set forth in the new general charter."

"Our committee recommends that first the common council abolish the present district lines and create in place of the four present districts a single common school district, that as soon as feasible after that an election be held within the district to determine upon the adoption of the general charter plan of unifying the schools under one city system."

The resolution was signed by A. W. Laabs, chairman, W. H. Kreiss, John F. Lappen, Leslie C. Hanson, Lee C. Rusey, J. H. Harbeck, John E. Hant-schel, W. F. Murphy, Charles Foss and H. C. Beske.

Mayor Henry Reuter, who presided at the meeting appointed G. H. Lang chairman of the committee on janitors and supplies. The report of J. P. Morrison, state boiler inspector, read by the secretary, showed the boilers of the high school were in good condition. Bills amounting to $600 were allowed. ## Mail Carrier Offers New Plan For Naming Streets Of Appleton

Would Make All Avenues Running One Direction and Streets the Other Way—Hasn't Much Use for Sentimental Names.

The movement started by the city engineer to rename Appleton streets has provoked a lively discussion. Some prefer to retain all names. Others have expressed themselves in favor of three or four different systems, all of which have been explained in this paper. Readers are invited to send in their opinions to the Street Names Editor, care of this office. All communications should be signed in full.

Mail carriers are keenly interested in the subject, as will be seen from the letter printed below. The writer is in favor of the plan advocated by Chief McGillan of the fire department. "Street Names Editor, There is perhaps no one in the city of Appleton more familiar with the street naming and numbering system and its deficiencies than the letter carrier. So I am writing this from a mailman's point of view. There was many years ago when city delivery service was inaugurated here some sort of system used in the numbering of houses—a post system. This could be approved upon by using the system of numbering houses on the basis of 100 to the block, already suggested in your columns. That does away with the house numbering part of the problem."

NO SYSTEM IN NAMES

But does there in the street renaming and house renumbering scheme exist a problem? Let us see. At the outset I will say that every street name in the city should be changed by a simple, systematic method, regardless of the opinion of the sentimentalist, the man of artistic temperament, or the chronic system seeking bungler. There appears never to have been any system applied to the naming of our streets, and many of them bear the most ridiculous names imaginable. It seems as though each street might have been named after the whim of some individual.

Just now I am reminded of an article in your columns wherein an Appleton man says we should retain the street names we now have, because after long years of use we have learned to love and cherish them. I do not think sentiment should play any part in encouraging us to retain a system that is absolute and detrimental to the city. And, dear reader, can you imagine yourself being able to love and cherish a name like Mueller St., Durkee St., or Kaiser St.? Then we have also the opinion of the man of artistic temperament who would give our streets such names as Aubrey St., Ravenwood Ave. and other names pleasing to the ear—a system about as impracticable as the one we now have. Then there is the plain blunt man who would apply a simple system to the renaming of our streets—a common sense method.

TIME TO MAKE CHANGE

The fact that there is a general impression throughout the city that the time is here to give this matter serious consideration and the fact that a perusal of your columns indicates a divergence of opinion on the question by many interested citizens, these facts constitute, I believe, the existence of a problem for the citizens of Appleton to work out.

In brief I will give my solution of the problem: the intersection of College Ave. and Oneida St. to be the measuring or starting point; College Ave. to be changed to Washington Ave.; Oneida St. to be changed to Lincoln St.; all roads running east and west through the city to be named avenues; all roads running north and south to be named streets; all roads running east and west north of College Ave. to be named First Ave. North, Second Ave. North, etc.; all roads running east and west south of College Ave. to be named First Ave. South, Second Ave. South, etc.; all roads running north and south east of Oneida St. to be named First St. East, Second St. East, etc.; all roads running north and south west of Oneida St. to be named First St. West, Second St. West, etc.

This system would be based on two simple elements: 1. All avenues to run east and west, 2. All streets to run north and south, and would be less confusing than Mr. Richard's plan of having some avenues and some streets running east and west and some avenues and streets running north and south. Simplicity will be the watchword both as an aid to citizen and tourist. To those who would like to associate things about the city with historical names and names of illustrious men, I would suggest those names be applied to our parks, courts, places and short streets one block long that will not work advantageously into the above plan. These short streets are found in many parts of the city. For example, City Park could with all propriety be called Garfield Park. Alton Court could be changed to Wilson Court. Short streets like Ida St. could be named Jefferson St. and so on.

Will F. Bailey.

Even the Old Time Derby
Seems to be Getting Back
Into Favor

By MARIAN HALE

The plush horse era in men's clothes is over. The well-dressed man and the college youth who have been found guilty of perpetuating jazz styles of the last few seasons have been put under control. The conservatives again are in power.

After all, a woman should know whether her escort is properly assembled. Otherwise, he may completely spoil the effect she is trying to get.

I was assured by the spokesman for the country's most exclusive tailoring establishment, that for a century has been dressing the husbands and sons as well as the butlers of our first families, that the really well-dressed man has never worn jazz styles.

"For my patrons I am making practically the same suit for the last 50 years," he says proudly. "Possibly from time to time we change from a three to a four-button model coat, but nothing more."

No wonder men stay young longer than women.

I was besought by all the haberdashers to use my influence to combat the jacket coat evil.

Please be advised, fellow citizens, that the man who wears his dinner jacket to a dance or a theater, when escorting a woman thereto, is guilty of a social error.

The tuxedo or dinner jacket was the inspiration of a famous club man, a most correct gentleman, who wore it to his club, to informal dinners and stag affairs.

But he never would have been guilty of coupling it with white flannel trousers or a white waist coat and a negligee shirt.

Repression in the matter of shirts is not only advocated but urged. A white silk one is permissible, but white cotton is better. Stripes must be inconspicuous to get by.

Trousers may be cuffed or plain, but English influence is backing the plain variety. Golf suits, with regulation trousers as well as knickers are shown. But the custom of wearing golf togs merely for promenading is frowned upon.

The derby hat, probably the most unsightly headgear ever imagined for any race, is said to be coming back. So is the opera hat with the accordion attachment. A vague rumor promises something sort of snappy in green hats, but this may not materialize.

In tuxedos the slip-on and plain Chesterfield model are taking the place of the ulster. Feather mixtures in light and dark colors give a little opportunity for individual expression. Shoes are plain and severe. The brogue is passé.

Hip flasks will be worn concealed this season. It has now become established that every well-dressed man has one and display is no longer necessary.

REAL BEAUTIES ARE RARE

BIJOU FERNANDEZ

By Marian Hale

If someone offered you a good salary and told you to earn it by traveling over the country finding beautiful girls, wouldn't you think you had fallen into something pretty easy?

That was what Bijou Fernandez thought when such a job was created for her.

But after prospecting for pulchritude eight months in the haunts of fashion as well as in department stores and factories and at amateur and professional theatrical performances and finding just one real beauty, she's inclined to acknowledge she made a hasty judgment.

She's looking, you see, for future motion picture stars. She doesn't want just beauties of the poster type—there are many such, she wants beauties with personality magnetism, appeal, brains, breeding and poise, who still are young, unspoiled, winsome and teachable.

Which is what you call a large order.

"You would be surprised," she explains, "to learn how much feminine beauty depends upon coloring and upon the customer's art. Take that out of consideration and many beauties become flat, lacking in distinction, and absolutely without appeal."

"Then too, I find that many girls have ruined the expressiveness of their faces trying to look cynical or worldly-wise. Late hours and jazz destroy natural beauty. The world at large feels no interest in the flapper. She interests only herself.

"If I find a knock-em-cold beauty and she hasn't personality and intelligence she's worthless for my purposes."

Or a girl with all the qualities of face is absolutely barred if she hasn't a pleasing figure, nice slender ankles and wrists and a graceful carriage.

"Though she must be intelligent, my beauty must be young and look wise and appealing. She must not be older than 25, but I prefer her around 17."

"She must not be taller than five feet, nor weigh more than 120 pounds. Light blue or gray eyes make her almost hopeless for screen work."

"I've found no spots where beauty grows wild but the best place to sleuth for star material is New York, because pretty girls from all over the country come here at some time or other."

"Philadelphia and Baltimore seem to yield more beauties than any other cities. I'm inclined to believe that there are more pretty girls to the square mile in the southern part of the country than in the north."

"The most intelligent girl comes from New England and the most teachable one from the west. But you can't localize loveliness. If you could I'd set up my office in the heart of that belt."

Adventures Of The Twins

Olive Roberts Barton

Poorest are Richest

Nancy and Nick and the Magical Mushroom listened in amazement at the Moon-Man's story.

"You see, my dears," said Mr. Peersabout, the Man-in-the-Moon, as he leaned back comfortably in his rickety old chair and stroked his beard, "the moon is different from the earth."

"The things you value on earth we moon people don't care about at all, and the things you throw away down there we prize highly."

"Take our cities, for instance, that you think are so wonderful, one built of carved ice block, another of white marble inlaid with jewels, and one of ivory and pearl."

"They might be called handsome on the earth, but up here they are slums where the poorest people live. People who have nothing to eat but roasts and cake and fruit and fine sauces, and nothing to wear but velvet and satins and embroideries and laces and handsome furs live in these cities."

"It is very sad about them, but we can do nothing about it. The poorer they get, the more servants and automobiles they have, and the more gold rolls into their counting rooms. It's hard to tell when it will stop."

"But what do the rich people have then?" Nancy couldn't help saying. "Nothing," replied the Moon Man. "Nothing at all. You see, I am the richest man in the moon and I have nothing at all. Poverty is the most valued thing here and I have that."

The Twins understood now why Mr. Peersabout had said they were as welcome as poverty.

"Don't you have anything to eat, even?" asked Nick.

"Oh, yes. Yes, indeed. For breakfast I have crackers and milk, for luncheon I have milk and crackers and for tea I have mackerels and crabs. I change the name just for variety. Won't you have some?" After that I'll show you around."

NATURE FACTS AND FREAKS

AN ANT THAT'S LIKE A LION

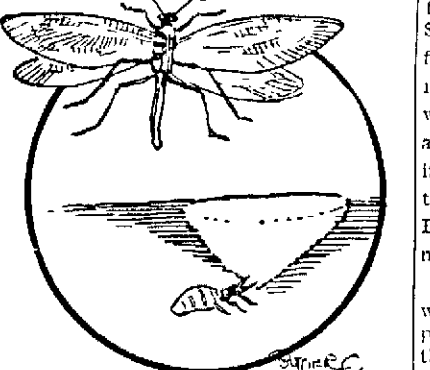

By Prof. M. J. Elrod

Ant Lions are insects. They bear no relation to lions in structure or appearance but have habits very similar.

The term is applied to the young insects. The adults are very much like dragonflies in appearance, with long bodies and delicate gauzy wings. They are rather poor fliers and are easily captured. The young are wholly unlike the adults. They very much resemble a soft young potato beetle. They live in sandy places, generally about rivers and lakes. The young villan crawls under the sand, flings his head, tosses the sand upward and backward making a little pit, at the bottom of which he lies in wait for prey. His body is covered only his large jaws extending into the pit. Along comes a luckless ant, dragging a heavy load, and topples into the hole. The ant scrambles desperately to get out, but by vigorous jerks of the head Mr. Lion throws sand and keeps him falling. Woe to the ant when the ferocious jaws are reached. They close in a death grip and all is over for the ant. The same fate awaits a beetle or other insect that may fall into the pit.

Fort Worth, Tex.—James E. Ferguson was removed as governor of Texas in 1917. He was indicted for his handling of state funds. The bills against him were dismissed later, but out of a million the fight left him only a little butcher shop in his home town of Temple. Also he was a party bolter.

A total loss said Lope Star politician.

What's more, he may win yet for the Texas law requires a runoff vote between the two leading primary candidates. This is still to follow with Ferguson opposing Earl B. The ex-governor's platform is light wine and beer, soldiers' bonus, no poll tax, all the help he can give to the farmers and labor, and opposition to the Ku Klux, who are said to support Mayfield, though he does not call himself their candidate.

takes an expert to find him in his lair for he feigns death, and cannot be distinguished from a dozen little stones. But wherever pits are seen in the sand there ant lions may be found. It takes keen eyes and skill to get them, so well protected are they by color and surroundings.

SPORTS DRESS

By Mary Brooks Picken

Something one should like to see is a "Hindu Man" is how soon "knickerbockers" will replace the simple sports dress for golf. I am sure if he were a "Seer" of fashions he would say, "Never, completely, but within another year they will be running 50-50."

The sports dress illustrated is of castor color. Kasha cloth ornamented with pearl buttons of harmonizing color and bound with dull green braid.

The definite tendency for fall in sleeves—close fitting at the wrists—is evident here. The shorter waistline effect, which is also a fall note, is acquired by the double belt.

Extra fullness is allowed and the pockets made possible through the interesting side line of the skirt.

The hat is castor color, felt with green braid binding and possesses sufficient simplicity and jauntyness to match well with the sports dress.

YOUR JOB

By Elizabeth Arnold

"She is a very dependable worker," is a recommendation that arrests any employer's attention. Aim to be an even worker. Get the reputation of being prompt and regular. Learn to hold your tongue, smile and appear pleasant. Then when you make a complaint it will receive attention.

The girl with the dashing personality and startling clothes who feels that no rule holds for her is less and less in demand. To have good business manners and to form good business habits will put you ahead faster than genius. There is no quality so difficult to dispose of in business as temperament.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

White is the accepted color for the wedding gown in most countries, but in parts of Finland it is customary for different families to adopt certain colors and all the daughters of that house wear that particular color on their wedding day.

To violate the family tradition in this respect would be considered unpardonable on the part of any bride.

INQUIRE OF AGENT

TESTED RECIPE

CORN SOUTHERN STYLE

By Bertha E. Shapleigh

Many persons do not enjoy eating corn from the cob. The following method is good and will prove a pleasant change.

3 cups corn, cut from uncooked cobs

2 teaspoons sugar

1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon paprika

3 tablespoons butter

Water to cover

Cook the corn in the butter for five minutes, add seasonings and water. Cover the pan and let the corn cook 15 or 20 minutes. It will then be tender and have a very little liquid to serve with it.

(Cut this out and paste it in your cook book.)

Today's word is SPECTER.

It's pronounced—speck-ter, with accent on the first syllable.

It means—a ghost, a spirit, an apparition, a phantom.

It comes from—Latin "spectrum," an image.

Companion word—spectral.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You remember that while a man should pay all the fares and expenses of transportation while he acts as escort, he is under no obligation to do so if he merely meets a lady on the street car or bus.

When entering a car the man permits the woman to precede him. If a stranger gives his seat to the woman her escort should acknowledge this courtesy by lifting his hat.

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

by A.A. MILNE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Lunch was over and the house-party guests were away on the golf links. Quiet reigned in the Red House while MARK ABLETT, the bachelor owner, and MATT CAYLEY, his companion, awaited the arrival of Mark's brother, ROBERT, who was returning from Australia after a 15 years' absence. Started by Robert's rough appearance, AUDREY STEVENS, the maid, ushered him into Mark's office on his arrival. After an unsuccessful attempt to find Mark in the garden, Audrey returned to the house to find the other servants frightened by the sound of a revolver shot and to hear Cayley pounding on the office door demanding admittance.

GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER II

Whether Mark Ablett was a bore or not depended on the point of view, but it may be said at once that he never bored his company on the subject of his early life. However, stories get about there is always somebody who knows. It was said that, as a boy, Mark had attracted the notice, and patronage, of some rich old spinster of the neighborhood, who had paid for his education, both at school and university. At about the time when he was coming down from Cambridge, his father had died.

Mark went to London, with an allowance from his patron, and made acquaintance with the money-lenders. He was opposed by his patron and other who inquired, to be "writing," but what he wrote, other than letters asking for more time to pay has never been discovered.

Fortunately (from Mark's point of view) his patron died during his third year in London, and left him all the money he wanted. He settled accounts with the money-lenders, abandoned his crop of wild oats to the harvesting of others, and became in his turn a patron. He patronized the Arts.

Editors were now offered free contributions as well as free lunches promising young painters and poets dined with him; and he even took a theatrical company on tour, playing host and "lead" with equal lavishness.

His patronage included Matthew Cayley, a small cousin of thirteen. He sent the Cayley cousin to school and Cambridge.

Cayley at twenty-three, looked after his cousin's affairs. By the time Mark had bought the Red House, Cayley superintended the necessary staff. He was not quite secretary, not quite land agent, not quite business-adviser, not quite companion, but something of all four.

Cayley was now twenty-eight, but had all the appearance of forty, which was his patron's age. Spasmodically they entertained a good deal at The Red House. Let us have a look at them as they came down to that breakfast, of which Stevens, the maid, has already given us a glimpse.

The first to appear was Major Rumbold, a tall, gray-haired, grumpy, unattractive, silent man, who lived on his retired pay. He had got to work on a sausage by the time of the next arrival. This was Bill Beverley, a cheerful young man in white flannel trousers and a blazer.

"Hallo Major," he said as he came in, "how's the gout?"

"It isn't gout," said the Major. "Well, whatever it is."

The Major grunted. "I make a point of being polite at breakfast," said Bill, helping himself largely to porridge.

"Well, we've got a good day for our game. It's going to be dashed hot, but that's where Betty and I score. Hallo, good morning, Miss Norris. Do you want any assistance or do you prefer choosing your own breakfast?"

"Please don't get up," said Miss Norris. "I'll help myself. Good morning, Major." She smiled pleasantly at him.

The Major nodded. "As I was telling him," began Bill, "that's where—Hallo, here's Betty. Morning, Cayley."

Betty Callandine and Cayley had come in together. Betty was the eighteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. John Callandine, widow of the painter, who was acting hostess on this occasion for Mark. Ruth Norris took herself seriously as an actress and, on her holidays, seriously as a golfer. She was quite competent as either.

"By the way, the car will be round at 10:30," said Cayley, looking up from his letters. "You're lunching there, and driving back directly afterward. Isn't that right?"

Mark came in. He was generally the last. He greeted them and sat down to toast and tea. Breakfast was not his meal. The others chattered gently while he read his letters.

"Good God!" said Mark suddenly. There was an instinctive turning of heads toward him.

"I say, Cay?" He was frowning. He held up a letter and shook it. "Who do you think this is from?"

Cayley shrugged his shoulders. "How could he possibly guess?"

"Robert," said Mark. "I thought he was in Australia, or somewhere."

"Of course. So did I." He looked across at Rumbold. "Got any brothers, Major?"

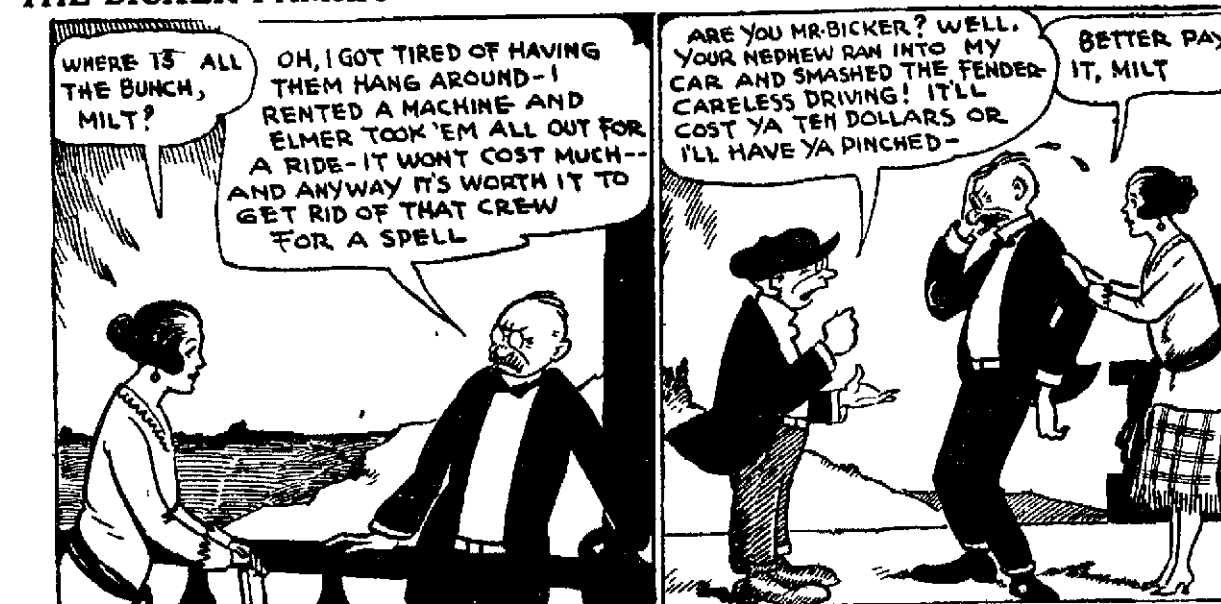

"No."

"Well, take my advice, and don't have any."

FOX RIVER VALLEY LEAGUE REMAINS SIX CLUB CIRCUIT

Too Late In Season To Take In Green Bay And Manitowoc, Directors Say

Impossible to Determine Relative Strength in Short Time That Is Left—Frown on Saturday Afternoon Games.

The Fox River Valley Baseball league will finish the 1922 season with six clubs as it is now constituted, it was decided at a meeting of league directors in Oshkosh Monday evening. Because of the late date it was believed inadvisable to extend the league to eight clubs by reinstating Green Bay and admitting Manitowoc this year, but it is probable they will be included next year when it is proposed to increase the size of the circuit.

According to word from Oshkosh, the decision to finish the season with the present clubs was almost unanimous. Green Bay and Manitowoc were represented and protested the action of the directors. The game between Green Bay and Manitowoc played in Green Bay last Sunday will not be counted as a league game. Directors believed the time was so late that it would be impossible for the clubs to play more than once with each other before the end of the season and that would not be a fair test of their relative strength to determine a champion. Saturday afternoon baseball was frowned on for this year because of the disturbed industrial situation which would seriously interfere with attendance. It was said the meeting was harmonious and there was a general agreement on controversial issues before the men left for their homes. Regularly scheduled games which have been postponed and which cannot be played off before the end of the season will be played after the expiration of the regular schedule.

TRAILING THE TEAMS

Babe Ruth, who has come into his own at bat at the present western tour was the big gun in the attack that enabled the Yankees to beat Herman Pillette, Detroit pitching ace, for the second day in succession and keep within striking distance of the Browns. Ruth collected four hits and scored the run in the ninth that gave the Yanks a 4-3 victory.

Rogers Hornsby, whose heavy hitting has been a big factor in the winning drive of the Cardinals, had an off day in the field and blew his teams chance to go into first place with two costly errors. The Braves nosed out Rickey's men 9-8.

Unusually heavy batting also featured other major league games. Pittsburgh amassed 22 singles in triumphing Philadelphia 17-10. Cleveland pounded three Boston twirlers and won 7 to 0 in a seven inning contest. The Chicago White Sox emerged from their hitting slump and laced out 17 safe blows to trim the Athletics 12 to 5, in the only other game played.

Reuther Best Pitcher

Through the first half of the season the sensation work of Pitcher "Dutch" Reuther has featured the play of the Brooklyn Nationals.

The veteran pitcher is staging a most remarkable comeback. He is easily the most effective pitcher in the National League today.

When the Brooklyn club was in a slump, and all the pitchers were faltering, Reuther continued his winning ways. His ability to win when the rest of the staff was in trouble kept up the moral of the Dodgers during the early stages of the race.

Judging by the way he is going at present, Reuther has an excellent chance to win 25 ball games. Any pitcher who can turn in that many victories is entitled to much consideration when selecting the most valuable player in the majors.

FOND DU LAC WILL PLAY LEAGUE TEAM HERE ON SATURDAY

Game Called Off Last Sunday to be Played This Coming Weekend

Baseball fans here will have an opportunity of seeing a game next Saturday afternoon when Fond du Lac comes here to play the game which was called in the third inning last Sunday because of the rain. The game probably will start at 3 o'clock.

Sorenson a Lawrence college athlete who has been pitching for Waukegan, probably will be on the hill for the local club. Fond du Lac has not announced its battery.

Next Sunday Appleton will play at Menasha. Inasmuch as the last game between the two clubs was scheduled for Appleton and transferred to Menasha because of wet grounds, it was proposed that next Sunday's game be played in Appleton but that Menasha would not consent. Howard will work on the mound for the local club.

YANKS WIN 4 TO 3

Detroit's Ruth's double and a Schang's single in the ninth gave New York a 4 to 3 victory over Detroit on Monday. The Babe's bat was a potent figure in the game, his single in the fourth inning when the Yankees grouped five of their hits, driving in the tying run. After the first inning, when Bob Jones tripped with the bases full, as the result of a single error and pass, the Tigers could do little with Sam Jones.

DEMPSEY MIGHT BE MATCHED WITH SOUTH AMERICAN

Kearns and Rickard in Big Conference—No Dope On Willard-Dempsey Go

New York—The situation with regard to prospects for a world's heavyweight championship bout in which Jack Dempsey would defend his title, remained unchanged on Monday, at least in so far as announcements by any of the parties involved in connection with the fight. Jack Kearns, manager of the heavyweight title holder, and his eastern representative, Dan McKelrick, held a long conference with Promoter Rickard and Matchmaker Flour nov, at Madison Square Garden, late in the afternoon. At the end of the session, however, it was announced that "there was nothing for publication."

"RUBE" NOBLE IS IN BAD WITH MADISON BALL FANS

"Rube" Noble, who was connected with the Appleton Valley team and who is now pitching for the Madison team, was pounded for 10 hits in eight innings in the game with Lancaster last Sunday. Noble allowed three walks in one inning which lost the game for the Madison outfit.

APPLE CREEK TEAM WILL PLAY AT DARBOY SUNDAY

The Apple Creek baseball team will go to Darboy next Sunday to play that village team. This will be a game between two strong amateur teams and no doubt will be hard fought throughout. Darboy was successful in defeating the strong Behnke and Jens team one game this season. The contest between the Creek and Behnke and Jens teams, which was slated for last Sunday and had to be called off on account of rain, will be played Aug. 20.

COACH DENNY TRAINS FOR HIS WORK HERE

A. C. Denny, who was engaged last year to head athletic activities at Appleton high school the coming school year, is now at his home at La Crosse after spending the summer tutoring under Coaches Winter, Zupke and Gill, heads respectively of the basketball, football and track activities at the University of Illinois. Coach Denny was head of athletics at the Neenah high school last year.

The baseball team representing the Combined Locks Paper Co. in the Industrial league is the winner of the circuit's championship and will be awarded the trophy cup which is being given by the Spaulding Sporting Goods company. The standings of the teams show that the Combined Locks outfit has not lost a game of the ten that have been played.

The Kimberly Clark team finished in second place having won eight and lost two games. The team really lost but one game but by forfeiting the postponed game with the Valley Iron Works team is credited with two lost. The postponed game was slated to be played next Saturday but inasmuch as the standings would not be effected it was called off.

There is yet one postponed game to be played between the teams of the Fox River Paper Co. and the Toys Company teams. It is planned to stage this contest next Saturday.

CARDINALS LOSE CHANCE TO CLIMB INTO FIRST PLACE

Error by Hornsby Allows Three To Score—Braves Win Game 9 to 8

Boston—Six runs in the eighth, three of which were scored when Hornsby muffed Ford's short fly and fell, gave Boston a 9 to 8 victory over St. Louis on Monday and prevented St. Louis from taking the league lead. ### TWILIGHT BASEBALL GAMES FOR TUESDAY

Three games according to the league's schedule will be played Tuesday evening by the Legion's Twilight league. The schedule calls for the following games: First ward at Fourth ward, Second ward at Sixth ward, Third ward at Fifth ward.

WILLIAMS LANDS THIRTIETH HOMER

St. Louis—Kenneth Williams of the St. Louis Browns on Monday went in to the lead among major league home run batters by knocking out his twenty-ninth circuit drive of the season off Mogridge with one man on base in the sixth inning of Monday's game between Washington and St. Louis.

Williams now is one homer ahead of Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Williams hit his second home run in the sixth inning off Erickson, who relieved Mogridge for Washington, after the Browns had batted around Jacobson again was on base. It was Williams' thirtieth homer.

Williams feat is a new mark for modern baseball but record books show it was duplicated thrice in earlier days.

Two members of the old Boston Nationals, C. Jones, in 1880 and R. L. Lowe, in 1884, hit two homers in an inning while L. Bierbauer, who played with Brooklyn and Buffalo also is credited with the achievement in 1880.

Interlakes To Play Hortonville Sunday

Mid-Week Practice Games Put Pulpmakers in Best of Condition

| STANDINGS OF TEAMS |    |    |      |
|--------------------|----|----|------|
|                    | W. | L. | Pct. |
| Kimberly           | 2  | 0  | .666 |
| Interlakes         | 3  | 1  | .667 |
| Hortonville        | 3  | 1  | .667 |
| Dale               | 1  | 1  | .500 |
| Black Creek        | 1  | 2  | .333 |
| Freedom            | 0  | 3  | .000 |

The race for the top shelf in the second half of the County league is hitting a merry pace. The prediction of the Interlakes that "the last shall be first" appears to be taking some form of truth for the Pulpmakers are getting into their stride and have eyes set on first position.

Next Sunday the Interlakes and Hortonville teams will meet at Interlake park and besides the usual rivalry the contest will decide which team will occupy second place in the league for a week as both teams now are tied with a percentage of .666. The Pulp makers showed up in true champ class

In the last two games defeating Dale and Black Creek by decisive counts. O. Sternberg is working wonders on the hurling game and the fielders are backing him up on every play. A very effective form of practice has been adopted by the Interlake team which consists of mid-week practice games. Last week the Freight Handlers team was taken on and Wednesday evening the Tuttle Press team of the Factory league will be played at Interlake park.

The Interlake camp comes out with a strong statement that the Pulp Heavers are going to do nothing less than defeat the Hortonville outfit Sunday. Hortonville's version has not been heard but that will come later.

Memphis—Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., featherweight, beat Johnny McCoy of Cleveland in 8 rounds.

Birmingham, Ala.—Claude White, 17 year old flyweight of Birmingham, beat the veteran Frankie Mason in 10 rounds.

The Annual August Sales and Final Clearance Sale of Summer Merchandise—Begins at 9 o'clock Wednesday Morning, August 9th

4 DAYS OF SUPER—BARGAINS

WEDNESDAY morning the FINAL CLEARANCE SALE of the year will be under way. Every department is ready with money saving opportunities in Dry Goods, Apparel and Home Furnishings. Many special purchases have been made of brand new merchandise so that you may be sure of attractive assortments. BUY NOW AND SAVE!

A Sale of Dress Goods Remnants

This Remnant Sale is nothing short of a gold mine for the woman who is at all clever with her needle. And both the silks and cottons are in very usable lengths.

You have only to see a remnant of crisp taffeta for instance, and it suggests a negligee, a party frock for daughter, even a gay pillow.

The vogue of combining a plain with patterned fabric, for harmonizing one color with another in the same frock, makes these Remnants particularly valuable.
